

Listen to Dr. Hoffman on World Health News

On Sunday, May 31, I was privileged to be invited to a guest appearance on Dr. David Samadi's radio program, World Health News, on 970 AM "The Apple" in New York City.

Dr. Samadi is Chairman of Urology at Lenox Hill Hospital and medical correspondent for the Fox News Medical A-Team. I've always admired Dr. Samadi's encyclopedic knowledge of medicine, and he's a great communicator. The theme of the program was vitamins and supplements, in response to a deluge of phone calls Dr. Samadi received when he aired the subject on a previous broadcast. While conventionally-trained, and an acknowledged expert in robotic surgery, Dr. Samadi evinced a refreshing openness to natural approaches to health. He challenged me with questions about the safety and effectiveness of supplements. Cardiologist and integrative medicine expert Dr. Dennis Goodman of NYU Langone joined us for a lively discussion and to field call-in questions.

You can listen to the interview below:

Part 1

Part 2

Part 3

